Though we caught a few glimpses of him coming home from the hospital, the first official photos -- no, not the photoshopped ones -- of Prince George are finally here.

Though they've yet to be tweeted from The Clarence House's official twitter, the photos were leaked on Monday and published in the UK's Daily Mail. And it isn't just any old fancy royal photographer. The photo appears to be taken by Grandpa (Kate Middleton's dad, Michael Middleton), according to the paper.

In his first interview after the birth, Prince William told CNN the new prince is a "little rascal." Will was also proud that he changed Georgie's first "nappy", and that their royal pup, Lupo was adjusting pretty well to being a big brother. (Looks like it -- judging from the photo!) Could they be any cuter?
